Lugano hits all the right notes

Serene location and strong scientific programme enjoyed by all.

The Grande Hotel Villa Castagnola was the ideal venue for our 115th annual meeting. The friendly and attentive staff provided excellent service to 40 of our members. Also some 20 guests, old and new, attended, from North America, Europe and beyond - United Arab Emirates and Turkey.

Dr. Michael Wise, had organised a scientific programme that was wholeheartedly enjoyed and complimented on for its' high quality by many of the delegates. One lecture was done as a live webcast, a first for the society, direct from Los Angeles.

The programme for 2010 is looking equally as strong and should be of interest to all.

After Dinner Delights

The enchanting Lake Lugano was the backdrop for the party night / dinner cruise. The acutely dapper motorship "San Gottardo", good food and great company made for an extremely enjoyable night.

The guests at the official banquet were honoured to be entertained by two first class artists flown in from London. 'Harry the piano' thrilled us all with his impromptu medley inspired by the audience desires. He accompanied Anna Maria Rincon, an accomplished opera singer, who charmed and enthralled the audience with her talent.

116TH MEETING - IMPERIALE PALACE HOTEL
SANTA MARGHERITA LIGURE, ITALY, JUNE 24TH - 26TH 2010

The Italian Riviera is the location for our next meeting. A stunning part of the world is a good starting point for what promises to be a terrific meeting. Our President, Dr. James Dewe Mathews and the executive committee are pleased to say that all the vital ingredients are now in place.

The magnificent Imperiale Palace will host the scientific meeting and the official banquet. The meeting coincides with the start of the high season for tourists, so the town should already be buzzing, and early booking for travel and accommodation is recommended - special rates have been secured.

On Thursday 24th the local party night will start with a short boat trip to the neighbouring town of Portofino - considered to be one of the most beautiful Mediterranean ports. The famous Delfino restaurant, overlooking the harbour, will host the event.
